

NATION'S Restaurant News

THE NEWSWEEKLY OF THE FOODSERVICE INDUSTRY

PERIODICALS

Vol. 37, No. 21

PUBLISHED EVERY MONDAY • A LEBHAR-FRIEDMAN PUBLICATION® • $5 PER ISSUE • <http://www.nrn.com>

MAY 26, 2003

Members of the board of directors and the advisory council of the Elliot Leadership Institute are, from left, front row: John Bowen and Ken Levy, both of Johnson & Wales University; Alice Elliot of the Elliot Group; Kerry Kramp of Buffets Inc.; Brian Cornell of Pepsi-Cola North America; second row: Caroline Cooper of Johnson & Wales; Kathleen Wood of Elliot Solutions; back row: Bruce Hendrickson of Nation's Restaurant News; Jack Schuessler of Wendy's International Inc.; Edna Morris of Red Lobster Restaurants; Kevin Hall of Guru's Enlightened Eating; Diana Wynne of Metromedia Restaurant Group; Steve Caldeira of Pepsi-Cola Foodservice; Jon Luther of Allied Domecq Quick Service Restaurants; and Alan Gould of NRN.

Elliot Institute taps 16 foodservice veterans to head up advisory board

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Looking to some of the industry's top leaders for guidance, the Elliot Leadership Institute at Johnson & Wales University has assembled a 16-member advisory council comprising senior executives from foodservice companies.

The council's primary functions will be to help develop the institute's programs and curriculum, form a board of directors representative of the restaurant and hospitality industries, and provide ongoing leadership to the institute.

"These are some of the genuine thought leaders in the industry, who are applying their life's lessons, insights and strategies to running and working with great companies," said Alice Elliot, president and chief executive of the Elliot Group. The Tarrytown, N.Y.-

(See ELLIOT, page 18)